BYU To Sponsor Great Debate

by Judy Geisler
Student Government Editor

The "Great Debate of '68" is on at U. Teams representing Richard M. Nixon, Hubert H. Humphrey and George Wallace will clash in a debate sponsored by the ASBYU academics Office and the DAILY HERALD.

The details as to date and place have not yet been decided. "EVERSE Editor Glen Willardson mentioned, "Grossed rules and other things have to be agreed on before debate can be held."

The debate results from a challenge issued to the BYU chapter of the Young American Independent Party by others of the Forensic Association debate the proposition. "Resolved:

That George Wallace should be the next President of the United States."

The challenge, posted in Monday's SOUNDING BOARD, concluded with the pronouncement, "Needless to say, we (the undersigned members of the Forensic Association) welcome the opportunity to speak for the negative."

EXPLAINS WHY

The challenge was declined by Joel F. Hanson, president of the Y.A.I.P. on campus, who issued a statement explaining why.

"Inasmuch as George Wallace is not opposing the BYU Forensics team for President, but is opposing Hubert Humphrey and Richard Nixon, we will not debate the Forensics squad."

Hanson stated the Y.A.I.P. did not bypass the opportunity to debate by declining the challenge.

"We do hereby issue a formal challenge to the Young Republicans and Young Democrats of BYU to a three-way debate among the three campus parties concerning the 1968 presidential race."

"In view of the fact that neither of their candidates has met the challenge to face our candidate in a formal debate, we hope their campus representative will show a little more spirit," the statement concluded.

DEBATE ON

The response of the College Young Republicans was heard from David Warren, chairman of the campus group.

"We wish to indicate our willingness to debate at any time or place. Although we firmly believe in the two-party system, we are willing to face the Y.A.I.P. We see it as an opportunity to expose George Wallace for what he really is," the Illinois group pronounced.

The Young Democrats' answer was voiced by Dee Halverson, second vice chairman of the BYU organization.

"We will participate as long as the ground rules are specifically stated and are agreed upon by all parties," Halverson responded. "I'm glad to see the leaders of the other groups are willing to debate. Now students can hear the views of the candidates without committing themselves to any specific realm of political thought."

DEBATE ISSUES

Some lines for discussion were proposed by Hanson. "We ought to discuss the now-political Vietnam, the breakdown of law and order, states' rights and the control of local institutions, the so-called civil rights legislation and the fact that there isn't a dime's worth of difference between the two major parties of today."

Tentatively, Wallace will be represented by Hansen and H. Vestin Anderson, Jr.; Nixon's proponents will be Dale Lambert and an unidentified partner; Humphrey's spokesmen will be Les Brown and a partner.

All of the team spokesmen agreed on the necessity of certain ground rules of procedure. Said Hanson, "We need rules to go by so we won't end up in a free-for-all."

Rules are being formulated under the auspices of the co-sponsor, the UNIVERSE and the ASBYU Academics Office, according to Editor Willardson. As such details as time, place and date are decided, further statements will appear in the UNIVERSE.

HH Willing To Halt North Viet Bombing

Hubert H. Humphrey said Monday if elected president he would be willing to stop the bombing of North Vietnam.

Speaking for the first time on national television since the Democratic Convention the president thus moved dramatically from the Johnson Administration "policy."

In the half hour speech on foreign policy, Humphrey said North Vietnam "contended it would promptly admit 'good faith negotiations if we stop the present limited bombing of North Vietnam.'"

He spoke calmly at a critical time in Humphrey's campaign, which many observers feel is floundering under the issue of third party candidate George Wallace's increased popularity among workers.

Humphrey said that as president he would be "willing to stop the bombing of the North as an acceptable risk for peace because I believe it could lead to success in the negotiations and a shorter war."

"Tim," Humphrey said, "this would be the best protection for our troops." The Vice-president said that in weighing the risk, he would place key importance on evidence "direct or indirect, by deed or word" of Communist willingness to restore the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

In addition, Humphrey said that if Hanoi showed bad faith, "I would reserve the right to resume the bombings."

During the morning, the vice-president spent several hours in meetings with officials of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. At 12:15 p.m., the vice-president spoke before an overflow crowd of supporters in the tabernacle.

Professor Speaks On Czech Invasion

"The Czech people are so united that, up to now, the Russians have not been able to find anyone who will publicly support the occupation," said Dr. Melvin Mabey, chairman of the Russian Studies Department.

Before a Political Science Senior Colloquium, Dr. Mabey spoke about his impressions and observations during his recent trip to Czechoslovakia.

"The reaction of the invasion by the Czech people was a complete surprise to the Russian army," according to Dr. Mabey. The soldiers thought the people would be glad to be freed from the counter-revolution. But the Czechs replied with protest posters, angry taunts, and a refusal to aid the army with food and shelter.

However, Dr. Mabey did point out the Czech government was at no time planning to become a pro-western nation. "The Czech government is pro-Communist, and had no intention of breaking away from Russia," The Czechs did not ask, or want, help from Western powers.

Official reaction to the occupation, according to Dr. Mabey, was one of surprise. But no resistance was given to the invasion because this would give Russia justification for the occupation.

Dr. Mabey described a passive resistance by the Czech people, which in his opinion was amazingly unified against the occupation. "The Czech people were completely united behind their leaders."

One unusual form of resistance was the removal of all streets signs, making it difficult for Russian soldiers to find their way around the city. The Russian soldiers were forced to live in tents, and their food had to be brought in from outside the country.

They became so discouraged from angry comments by the Czechs, that Russian commanders ordered the soldiers not to speak to the people except to tell them that they had come to save the Czechs from a counter-revolution. One soldier became so discouraged that he committed suicide, Dr. Mabey pronounced.

Dr. Mabey pointed out that even the newspapers and journals did not actually speak against the invasion. But they showed their disapproval by writing about the occupation in Vietnam which they felt was unjust.

One poster, showing their disapproval, read "Only that nation is free which doesn't take away the freedom of another," Karl Marx.

The Russians faced a problem, said Dr. Mabey, because of the unity of the people behind their government. It was going to be a very difficult task for the Russians to remove from office those people which they felt were counter-revolutionists, because of the support of the people.

However, Dr. Mabey feels that the Russians will eventually find a means for instituting less liberal government.

World Series Preview

The national pastime takes one giant step at football before the gridiron sport claims most of America's attention.

The World Series is probably the greatest of all sports spectacles, as evidenced by the number of transfer radios that pop up all over campus.

Wednesday is opening day and page 6 takes a warm-up look at the principles, including two of the most talked-about pitchers in the game's history, St. Louis's Bob Gibson and Detroit's Denny McLain.

Largest Jet

EVERETT, Wash. AP-The world's largest and fastest commercial jetliner—capable of carrying 490 passengers at cruising speeds of 625 miles per hour—rolls off the production line Monday.

The $20 million Boeing 747 is the product of nearly a decade of research and has been under construction for more than a year. Its passenger capacity is about 3% times greater than that of the largest jet liners now in use.

Rector Replaces Hanks

Hartman Rector, Jr., a member of the First Council of Seventy of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will be the speaker at today's Devotional Assembly.

Elder Marlon B. Hanks, who was originally scheduled to speak, is unable to attend due to illness.

Prior to being called to the First Council of the Seventy in April of this year, Elder Rector resided in Fairfax, Va. He is a convert to the Church of 1952 along with his wife who married in 1947. They are the parents of seven children.

He is a former naval aviator, presently holding the rank of captain in the U.S. Naval Reserve and for ten years was with the U.S. Department of Agriculture for whom he was program and budget analyst in the office of Budget and Finance.

He was raised on a farm near Moberly, Mo., where he graduated from high school and junior college. In 1942 he enlisted in the Naval Reserve cadet program, became a naval aviator and was commissioned in 1945 with the rank of Ensign.

He went on inactive duty in 1947 but was recalled in 1951 during the Korean War and saw active in Korea, remaining on active duty until April, 1958.

To Whom It May Concern...

HUMPHREY

By Larry Wright

Last night Democratic presidential nominee Hubert Humphrey bought a half-hour of prime time on national television to make a major speech.

What he said will prove very significant in the remaining five weeks of the campaign.

If he is elected President, Humphrey promised he "will stop the bombing of North Vietnam." We must not do anything to endanger our troops, he continued. "But I believe this step will shorten the war, which is the best way to protect our troops."

The Vice President emphasized he would not undertake unilateral withdrawal: "This would make meaningless the sacrifices we have already made, and it would be an open invitation for more aggression." Peace, he said, would not be served by "weakness or withdrawal. And peace would not be served by escalating the war."

RISK

North Vietnam has promised to cooperate in meaningful peace talks if the bombing is halted, the candidate said. "I believe this is a risk we should take." Humphrey strongly added that "if the government of North Vietnam showed bad faith, I would reserve the right to resume the bombing."

Humphrey went on to say he would move to de-Americanize the war by establishing with South Vietnam a timetable for the reducing of American forces. "South Vietnam would assume more and more responsibility."

"I believe this will be possible next year," Humphrey said.

CEASEFIRE

The Vice President stated further that he would propose an immediate ceasefire and immediate withdrawal of all foreign forces from South Vietnam. "We can bring home our forces if the North Vietnamese agree to take their home." This ceasefire and withdrawal would be internationally supervised, said Humphrey.

These are risks, he warned, "But these are risks I would take for peace. And we would take these steps in such a way as to not jeopardize our national security."

SENSIBLE

These are sensible statements. In the face of seemingly insoluble problems in Southeast Asia, Humphrey's proposals are sound, realistic and workable. They do not smack of the jingoism accepted and even advocated by many. They do not distort reality by substituting catchwords for courageous insight.

It is time to end the useless killing of Americans.

Referring to his opponents, Humphrey said, "Mr. Wallace would probably escalate the war. And if Mr. Nixon has a plan to end the war, he has an obligation to inform President Johnson and the American people."

PLOY

Yet just days ago, charged Humphrey, "Mr. Agnew said 'there never was a Nixon-Agnew plan for ending the war; that was just a ploy to maintain suspense.'"

We have had enough no-cost policies. Enough mistakes have been made. Thousands of men already have given their lives. Will their sacrifice be made more meaningful by continuing the carnage?

Humphrey says that halting the bombing is a risk we should take for peace. That sounds good to me. It's time to send Johnson's Army home.

For Whom The 'Fees' Toll

For many students the question of loans is a lot like "to be or not to be"—as far as financing an education is concerned. There is no problem as long as funds remain adequate but when things get tight and loans are necessary, the situation can get very tense.

To help carry students over the rough spots, the school sponsors a system of short term loans (interest free for 90 days) and a long term (deferred until graduation) loan with a $500 limit. In addition to these programs there are a number of state and federal loan programs available to students on the basis of residence and citizenship. Most of these are deferred until after graduation and range from $1000 to $1500 per school year.

With all this aid available, most students should have little problem keeping themselves in school—or so it seems. There is one aspect of the situation that is causing problems, however. It stems from a policy employed by the BYU Financial Aid Office through which the school may call any and all deferred notes due the minute a student changes to a state or federal loan program.

For instance, a student borrowed $500 on a deferred basis from the school to meet expenses during the 1967-68 school year. During the summer marriage and its associated expenses disrupted his meager student budget and he found himself unable to handle tuition and lab fees for himself and his wife. Since the school program was then inadequate for his needs, he made arrangements to participate in the federal program for which he was eligible. This would give him $500 at the beginning of each semester to meet expenses for himself and his wife.

Everything looked fine until he took the loan application to the school for certification. There he learned that his "deferred" note would be called due within 30 days of his application for the federal program. In other words, the first semester's proceeds of his government loan must go to pay his school loan and he still had no money for tuition, fees, etc.

The only alternatives open to him if his loan called due by the school, are to forget the federal loan and take a short term loan from the school—less than he needs or obtain a loan from a financial company at high interest rates (assuming he does not decide to drop out of school). Since he is not extremely talented student and can't afford to study time by working additional hours to pay his short term loans, he decided to drop out of school for a year to get better situated.

This was probably a wise decision in this case, it would have been unnecessary if the note with which school had been held until graduation under original terms or if the school loan program was better suited for current educational costs.

With almost semesterly increases in tuition and fees added to rising rental and food prices, it may well be well to revise the upper limits of the loan program. While it is true that The Church has consistently discouraged unwise use of credit and indebtedness it has never opposed loans, with reason, for housing, business or education.

With increasing costs—in both time and money—of missions and military service, it is imperative that our young people complete their education as rapidly as possible. This means the expenditure of approximately $6000 in a four-year period—much of which must be raised by the student himself.

EDUCATIONAL LOANS SHOULD ONLY BE CONSIDERED AS A LAST RESORT.

But, how a student arranges his financing for given school year should not affect any prior arrangements he has made, especially when such change would create a legitimate hardship. We therefore urge the school to re-evaluate its policy calling deferred notes due when other arrangements are made for further financial aid, or else revise the loan program so that it can compete effectively with the federal programs it is discouraging.

Editor:

The other day one of your correspondents wrote concerning my ideas on B.Y. WOO. I have a few ideas of my own if you'd be kind enough to listen.

Before I came to the 'Y' my branch president, my mission president, and the missionaries in the field all exhorted the boys and girls to come here, gain an education and a Latter-day Saint companion for eternity.

Well, I arrived here last year and the place was full of them! Beautiful clean-cut returned missionaries, mysterious, unapproachable tenors and thousands of wide-eyed freshmen, all pursuing the same pastime during that first week... just looking—and the girls were looking equally as diligently.

Being a normal female predator I decided to go to work at once, and my freshman English class found me plotting and planning to "hook" a returned missionary—the graduate student teacher. I worshipped from afar, but my plans came to naught when he gave me a C+ at mid-semester.

I then transferred my predatory affections to a returned missionary in my Psychology class, and we had reached the stage of brushing hands accidentally on purpose as we sat taking notes. But the teacher once observed our antics and fixed us with his famous sardonic smile, which gave my returned missionary such a guilt complex that I never saw him again. I hear he is in constant and urgent communication with his mission president.

There was the Junior Botanical student who was anxious to wallow to further his knowledge of botanical specimens in the garden by the east staircase. I was the 300-yr. dash to my apartment that night, leaving the experimenter a sore shin and a deflated ego.

How shall I ever forget the snicker who picked my train but took my roommate out to dinner and a show!

My branch president will be visiting B.Y.U. in November and simply must have my returned missionary by then. You would want to see a branch president with shattered ideals, would you? Penny Pridmore (pseudonym)

"We're really pleased that BYU has been asked to handle this contest at the conference level," commented Wood, "and we're confident that a BYU coed would stand an excellent chance of winning the national title."

Wood added that a telecast of the WAC "Miss Football" presentation Oct. 11 is a good possibility.

KOVO, Social Office Plan Radio Program

"We never hear about campus events until after they've happened."

Does that sound like a familiar complaint? It shouldn't be in the future, according to ASBYU Social Vice President Jim Chaplin.

A twice-weekly radio show, "This Week at the Y," is scheduled for broadcast on Monday and Thursday nights on KOVO radio. Glen Shaw, general manager of the radio station, announced the addition of the program as a public service designed to assist BYU students.

PAUL HIGHMAN

The program will be broadcast Monday and Thursday nights from 10:30-11 p.m. KOVO regular Mike McCabe will assist in the more technical aspects of the program, and Paul Highman, of the Social Office, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Highman, coordinator of the program, indicated his approval of the program. "I feel this will be an excellent supplement to the information provided by the DAILY UNIVERSE and through other means of publicity."

"More events can receive wider coverage through this program than they ever could before. I can think of no higher goal for the Social Office than to make students aware of what's going on on campus."

NEWS BULLETIN

Monday night's program is a news program, designed to inform students of the week's events, including times, places and costs. "The Social Office's goal of providing a wide range of exciting activities for the student body will be enhanced by the program," said Chaplin.

The Thursday night program is designed to be a follow-up to the first weekly broadcast. This segment will serve as a last-minute reminder of scheduled events for the weekend, and will serve as a chance to fill the listeners in on any last-minute details which might not have been available during the Monday broadcast.

"It's our hope that students will take advantage of the opportunities afforded them by this program," remarked Highman.

Computer Schedules Romances

Although computerized registration may not be hovering around the corner, computerized romance at BYU may be here to stay!

Featuring a true-to-life lonely hearts computer, the unique IBM dance will be Friday from 8:20 p.m. to midnight in the Wilkinson Center ballroom.

According to a Junior class spokesman, the computer will change the usual "despair hunt" stag dance into a chest of fun, instead of the standard "wish and wait" endurance test, thus cost and the affair will be master-minded by the computer.

Students may purchase tickets and register at the information desk of the Wilkinson Center until the new deadline Thursday at 5 p.m. The information required is name, height and sex.

The information received at registration will be fed into the computer and each person will be matched with members of the opposite sex.

Upon arriving at the dance, each student will receive his personal, computer-printed "program." The program will contain the name of the student and the names of 10 other people, as well as 14 time periods and different locations.

Numbers corresponding to the number locations of the program will be located around the ballroom. When the first time period begins, the student will go to the first location to meet the first person on his program. After about 15 minutes, the second person will be called and the student will go to the second location to meet his second partner. This process will continue throughout the night.

However, just in case the computer fails to make the best possible match, there will be several "free" dances during the evening so students can choose their own partners.

Tickets for the computer dance are 50 cents.

NEWS

"Social Spotlight," a page designed to inform students of activities in the Social Office, will run each Monday, according to ASBYU Vice-President Jim Chaplin.

Dances, parties and programs will be highlighted there in an effort to promote interest and activity in all Social Office programs.

Chaplin said that this is an integral and necessary part of the service.

CHANCE ROMANCE

... Who will it be? That's the question asked by (l to r) Free Lieber, Barbra Beale, Connie Barrett and Carl Noel as they watch the programming process for the IBM computer dance set for Friday. The event is sponsored by the Junior Class.

Social Leaders Call For Student Activity

By Bill Rankin

"Do you know what your social activities office does?" asks Jim Chaplin, BYU social vice president.

The answer sounds simple: It merely supervises all of BYU social events.

However, nine weeks at BYU are usually products of weeks and months of planning by the social office, Western Week, Belle of the Y and Homecoming are just a few of the festivities the office sponsors annually.

It is also responsible for the Games Center, numerous dances, the Skyroom Exclusives, and other BYU socials.

Jim Chaplin heads the staff. A senior pursuing a political science major, Jim is no stranger to the social activities department. Last year he was on executive committee.

He urges students to become a part of the "involved granter." This is not only a request for volunteer work, but, as Chaplin says, "participating in the key to success."

"It's just no fun sitting home, it's fun to decide to have fun and find it. Whether you have a date or not, you should participate as much as you can without sacrificing academics," commented Chaplin.

In fact, we are organizing programs that are designed as affairs to students will get to know another," he emphasized.

Jim's staff believes this too, and it will be visiting around campus looking for new social ideas.

For instance, "Pannanny," Dating Game, and the Newsworld Game (a BYU), social specials, and a program head the list of 10 innovations.

Dances featuring Latin rhythms will be sponsored, and instruction is in the offing.

Tentatively, the BYU Dating Game and the Newsworld Game will be in Varsity Theatre. These will be premiering soon.

Pannanny ... "What?" ... "For party, and 'nanny' hootenanny! Pannanny. It is one of the stag programs to promote friendship and fellowship.

The party-simulators will be held in homes of individual hosts sponsored by the activities office. Sign-up lists and pertinent bullet will be out soon.

Homecoming is going to be a party, and "nanny" hootenanny! Pannanny. It is one of the stag programs to promote friendship and fellowship. The party-simulators will be held in homes of individual hosts sponsored by the activities office. Sign-up lists and pertinent bullet will be out soon.

World Series Duel: Gibson Vs. McLain

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bob Gibson's pitching makes the well-balanced St. Louis Cardinals 8-5 favorites over the shagging Detroit Tigers in the World Series opening Wednesday at Busch Stadium despite the threat of the Tigers' Denny McLain, baseball's first 31-game winner in 34 years.

Gibson, winner of five straight Series games, will be trying to tie the Series record, held jointly by Lefty Gomez and Red Ruffing of the New York Yankees, when he faces McLain in the big showdown battle on opening day.

Weak .220 hitters and forgotten pitchers often turn out to be Series heroes but most observers expect the opening match between Gibson and McLain to set the pattern for the best-of-seven set. With a day off for travel between cities, the rotation undoubtedly will pair Gibson and McLain in the first, fourth and seventh games if it goes the route.

The first two games will be played at St. Louis tomorrow and Thursday afternoons before sellout crowds of 54,575.

There will be a day off for travel Friday, with play resuming at Tiger Stadium in Detroit on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, if a fifth game is needed.

If nobody has won four, they will travel Tuesday, Oct. 8, and pick it up again at St. Louis Wednesday, Oct. 9, with a sixth game and Thursday, Oct. 10, with a seventh.

All games start at 1 p.m. local time. That is noon EDT in St. Louis and 11 a.m. in Detroit. The games will be carried on network NBC radio and television.

Most batters, especially left-handers, love to hit in Tiger Stadium, although the mileage in right field, 325 feet, is only five feet shorter than St. Louis.

Busch Stadium is a symmetrical park, 330 feet down each line and 414 up the middle. Detroit measures 340 in left, 365 in left center, 440 in center, 370 in right center and 325 in right.

Both clubs clinched the pennant early and have been playing indifferently in recent days. The Cards waited all the way after a slight relapse in late May but have been in a batting slump for weeks.

The Tigers beat off the lukewarm challenge of Baltimore and pulled away, winning 11 straight in September.

Golfers Tag Tourney Title

Coach Karl Tucker's varsity golf squad completed step number one in posting an undefeated fall season by winning the annual Patio Springs Collegiate Invitational golf tournament last Friday.

The Cougar linksters won the tourney for the third consecutive year over the tricky Patio course by defeating Weber State, Utah State and Utah.

After whipping the field last year by 25 shots, the BYU ax were shocked to find themselves 12 strokes down to a surprising Utah team after nine holes of play.

On the final 18 holes, the Cougars exhibited an unstoppable rally as they picked up the slack and downed the Redskins by 20 shots.

MILLER STRONG

John Miller, BYU's All-America star, took individual honors and broke the tournament record previously held by former teammate Mike Taylor. Miller attributed his win to a precise iron game, which he felt was better than when he won the California State Amateur tournament last summer.

Runner-up spot went to junior letterman Lane Bennett who won for a strong year. Third place captured by another Cougar—Ray Leach, a native of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Leach has been playing tough golf and Coach Tucker expects he is a great team asset.

This Friday and Saturday, the squad will travel to Logan for the Annual Beehive State Fair Golf Championship. It will be a team play tourney with awards to the winning squad as well as individual awards.

BYU is the defending champion for the fourth consecutive year, and John Miller is the individual champion.

Here are some comments from typical students:

Robert Driscoll, Student

This course has given me time to enjoy all of the books I have wanted to read for so long.

Ray C. Jolly, Professor

Reading Dynamically has already proved a substantial help in covering material that I need to use in teaching. It has also made it possible for me to do some reading outside of my professional field—something I have not done in years because of lack of time.

William Moore, Executive

This course has added new dimensions of enjoyment and information to a busy schedule. I would recommend it particularly for the High School or College student. It teaches planned study and comprehension. It is valuable for anyone determined to put forth the effort.

Scott Moessinger, Student

I'm thoroughly pleased with the course. Last week I read six books on chemistry with better understanding than I've ever had in previous years of study.
